ABOUT ME

Daniela-Georgiana Valache Voinescu is a doctoral research assistant at the Teacher Training Department, within the Faculty of Psychology and Educational Sciences, West University of Timișoara. She is the author or co-author of three scientific articles published in ISI Web of Science-indexed journals, and she also serves as a peer reviewer in the blind peer-review process. Her research aims to identify music teaching methods whose effectiveness has been empirically demonstrated, as well as to support teacher training in the use of evidence-based instructional strategies. Her research interests also include instructional design, curriculum development and alignment, and other methodological aspects of research in General Pedagogy, with a particular focus on Music Education. The courses she teaches within the teacher training programmes offered by the Teacher Training Department include: Pedagogy I, Pedagogy II, Didactics of Music, Teaching Practice for Compulsory Education, and Preparation for the National Tenure Examination.

She is also actively involved with the Centre for Academic Development at the West University of Timișoara, where she serves as a training expert for various workshops and professional development programmes for university and pre-university teaching staff.
